“Activity 6 Research Related to Water for Refugees”

MALATYA, TURKEY

*DURATION: May/June 2017.

*PARTICIPANTS.: Students of 8 grade

*TECHNIQUES: Research and presentations.

*AIMS:

- Improving students` knowledge about refugees and the water usages in the refugee camps.
- To raise awareness about the war and its effects on people.
- Individual research.
- Learning how to make a research about government related issues and realise how serious and important to maintain peace in the world.

*COMMENTS:

This was held due to the plan of activities of Erasmus K2 international project “Water in our world” (WOW). During this activity students learned how to relate their the information they researched about refugee camps and the importance of water in every part of human’s life. In general, they made a research about the refugee camps. However the importance of water for the people living in those camps was the focus point of their study.

*IMPACT:

The serious effects of the politic events on the innocent people raised awareness and a sense of friendship towards the people of the other countries.

* RESULTS:

A research made by students got them to think about the impact of a war and now they have a better understanding about the subject that war affects the innocent people. In the light of our main subject “water” students also realised the fact that if there is no water there is no life in anywhere. Therefore, they managed to relate the importance of water usage in the refugee camps became an important issue for the children both about using the resources and the cleanliness of the water relating to the epidemics and other diseases.
